Police are seeking missing Irvington girl

Wednesday, June 16, 2004

IRVINGTON: Police are looking for a 14-year-old teenage girl who has been missing for three months.

Tyamba S. Lamie left home March 13, but police believe she may still be in the area, said Police Director Michael Damiano.

Several police alerts have been issued to law enforcement agencies since her mother reported her missing.

Lamie, an eighth-grader at the Link Community School in Newark, is black, 5-foot-3 and 170 pounds. She has black hair, brown eyes and a scar on her right forearm, according to the National Center for Missing and Exploited Children.

She also may go by the nickname, "Tee."

Anyone with information is asked to call Irvington police at (973) 399-6549 or the National Center for Missing and Exploited Children at 1-800-THE-LOST.
